Can you get ready in the morning in six minutes?

That's how long personal support workers have to prepare long term care residents for breakfast each morning, regardless of mobility or other issues.

Chronic budget cuts and provincial underfunding, combined with short staffing and more complex patient requirements mean that residents are not getting the care they need.

Tomorrow morning, take the Unifor #6minchallenge and show us what you look like. Post your photo to Facebook and Twitter and include #6minchallenge.

Please support four hours of direct, hands on care per resident, every single day. As an MPP, you can make a difference in the lives of Ontario seniors.
